Background and Legislation

Background

Staff grievances refer to complaints or concerns raised by employees regarding their work environment, conditions, treatment, or other employment-related matters. Grievances can arise from a variety of issues, including but not limited to conflicts with colleagues or supervisors, unfair treatment, discrimination, harassment, policy violations, workload concerns, or disputes over compensation and benefits.

When employees feel aggrieved, they may choose to voice their concerns formally through the organisation's grievance or complaints policy. The purpose of a staff grievance or complaints policy is to provide a structured mechanism for employees to express their dissatisfaction, seek resolution, and address any perceived injustices or violations of their rights. Awards and agreements may also set out a specific grievance procedure clause that must be followed in addition to this policy when an employee specifically disputes the conditions of their employment.

Dispute resolution refers explicitly to the formal process in an award/agreement or employer policy of bringing a conflict or disagreement between the employer and its employee/s to an end. Every award and enterprise agreement must have a dispute resolution clause that details the step-by-step process for dealing with a dispute and the type of matters that can be formally disputed (for instance, pay and conditions in an award/agreement).

Definitions

The terms defined in this section relate specifically to this policy. For regularly used terms e.g., Approved provider, Nominated supervisor, Notifiable complaints, Serious incidents, Duty of care, etc. refer to the Definitions file of the PolicyWorks catalogue.

Complainant: Person who brings the grievance to the attention of Lucas Primary School Outside of School Hours Care under this policy

Staff Grievances Register: (In relation to this policy) records information about complaints received at the service, together with a record of the outcomes. This register must be kept in a secure file, accessible only to responsible persons and approved providers to protect complainant anonymity and to uphold professionalism. The register can provide valuable information to the approved provider on meeting the needs of children and families at the service.

Good faith Includes acting truthfully and confidentially throughout the resolution process, not attempting to submit an anonymous grievance, and not making frivolous or vexatious grievances.

Staff grievance: A formal complaint raised by an employee against a fellow employee, manager, or the employer. Employees usually file grievances for workplace harassment, workplace bullying, discrimination, nepotism, concerns regarding team management or regarding terms of the employment (i.e., workplace entitlements) (Refer to Prevention of Harassment and Bullying Policy).

Grievance procedure: Industrial instruments (awards/agreements) may contain a specific clause which provides for a procedure in managing a Staff Grievance. Refer to clause 10 (grievance procedure) of the Victorian Early Childhood Teachers and Educators Agreement 2020 (VECTEA).

Dispute: A state of disagreement over an issue or group of issues between an employer and its employees

Dispute resolution procedure: The method used to resolve complaints, disputes, or matters of concern through an agreed resolution process. Industrial instruments (awards/agreements) contain specific procedures in dealing with disputes that arise in relation to a grievance investigation, or a matter arising under its terms. Refer to clause 13 (dispute resolution) of the Victorian Early Childhood Teachers and Educators Agreement 2020 (VECTEA).

Fair Work Commission: The Fair Work Commission is the national workplace relations tribunal.

Mediator: A person (neutral party) who attempts to reconcile differences between disputants.

Mediation: An attempt to bring about an informal (non-binding) settlement or compromise between disputants through the objective intervention of a neutral party.

Notifiable incidents (WorkSafe): Under the Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004 (OHS Act), employers and self-employed persons must notify WorkSafe immediately after becoming aware a notifiable incident (such as a death of a person or a person requiring immediate treatment as an in-patient in a hospital).

Reportable allegation: any allegation that an employee, volunteer or student has committed child abuse (refer to Child Safe Environment and Wellbeing Policy)

Reportable Conduct Scheme: aims to improve oversight of how organisations respond to allegations of child abuse and child-related misconduct by their workers and volunteers. There are five types of 'reportable conduct':

- sexual offences committed against, with or in the presence of a child
- sexual misconduct committed against, with or in the presence of a child
- physical violence against, with or in the presence of a child
- any behaviour that causes significant emotional or psychological harm to a child
- significant neglect of a child.

Resolution: Person or entity whose behaviours, actions or decisions are the subject of the grievance.

Respondent: Person or entity whose behaviours, actions or decisions are the subject of the grievance.

Staff: Permanent, temporary, or casual employees of Lucas Primary School Outside of School Hours Care

Workplace investigator: An external individual who is responsible for conducting impartial and objective investigations into workplace incidents, complaints, or alleged misconduct. They are typically appointed by an employer/approved provider or assigned by a designated authority within the organisation to gather relevant information, interview witnesses, review evidence, and make findings and recommendations based on their investigation.

Workplace investigation: The purpose of a workplace investigation is to thoroughly examine the allegations, determine the truth, and make informed decisions regarding appropriate actions, including disciplinary measures or corrective actions. The investigation process involves gathering evidence, interviewing relevant individuals, reviewing documents or records, and assessing the credibility of the information provided. The investigator remains impartial and objective throughout the process, ensuring a fair and unbiased examination of the situation.

WorkSafe Victoria: WorkSafe is the regulator for occupational health and safety in Victoria.

Evaluation

In order to assess whether the values and purposes of the policy have been achieved, the approved provider will:

- regularly seek feedback from everyone affected by the policy regarding its effectiveness
- review the effectiveness of the policy and procedures to ensure that all complaints have been dealt with in a fair and timely manner
- keep the policy up to date with current legislation, research, policy, and best practice
- revise the policy and procedures as part of the service's policy review cycle, or as required
- notifying all stakeholders affected by this policy at least 14 days before making any significant changes to this policy or its procedures unless a lesser period is necessary due to risk (Regulation 172 \(2\)).

Attachment 1. – Staff Grievance Dispute Resolution Guidelines

Lucas Primary School Outside of School Hours Care aims to maintain a harmonious work environment. This guideline aims to assist staff and management to resolve staff grievances and complaints effectively and to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Lucas Primary School Outside of School Hours Care is committed to addressing staff grievances in a prompt and effective manner. The rights of employees will be respected in the grievance resolution process. Both the employer and employee will abide by their obligations under any relevant industrial award or agreement.

These guidelines should be read in conjunction with the grievance procedure in your relevant industrial award or agreement (if applicable). Refer to Clause 10 (Grievance Procedure) in the Victorian Early Childhood Teachers and Educators Agreement 2020 (VECTEA).

To avoid any perceived conflict of interest, if the approved provider (including nominated supervisors/directors/management teams or committee members) (if applicable) are personally involved in issues as a complainant, or in allegations of discrimination, they will stand aside from participation in Compliant subcommittees or procedures related to the investigation or management of complaints. The service or organisation will ensure that all complaints/grievances, regardless of whether they are of a major or minor nature, will be treated seriously and an investigation carried out fairly, efficiently, and expeditiously.

The following guidelines are to ensure that grievances are resolved by discussion between the parties and the employer. The employer recognises that, from time-to-time, individual employees may have grievances that need to be resolved in the interest of continued workplace collaboration.

- When addressing a grievance or complaint, first speak with the complainant in a confidential manner to gather relevant details. Obtain a written chronology of events, including who was involved, what happened, why, when, and how it occurred.
- Offer the complainant assistance, such as counselling through an Employee Assistance Program, or a safe way to get home if they are visibly upset.
- Consult with the complainant to determine their preferred method of resolving the grievance or complaint and ask about any steps that have been taken so far, whether informal or formal. For serious matters involving a risk to the health and safety of a person or a child) e.g., alleged bullying, harassment), a formal investigation is necessary. (Refer to Prevention of Harassment and Bullying Policy).
- Consider any immediate reporting obligations as an approved provider and employer in relation to the complaint, including reporting to the Regulatory Authority via the NQA IT system, making a report under the Reportable Conduct Scheme, or reporting a notifiable incident to WorkSafe. Refer to the Child Safe and Environment and Wellbeing Policy
- Do not make promises or propose actions that will be taken by the committee against the respondent before the grievance/complaint can be fully, independently, and thoroughly investigated.
- Confidentiality is to be respected at all times. Information about a grievance will not be disclosed or discussed outside of the grievance procedures, except as required by law.
- A staff member who has commenced a grievance process may withdraw and stop the process at any time without penalty.
- No staff member will suffer any personal or professional disadvantage because they decide to pursue a grievance in accordance with this policy and procedures.

- Employees may elect to have a support person of their choice present as a witness at any meetings or interviews. This may be a union representative if this is consistent with a relevant federal award or industrial agreement.
- Until the grievance is resolved, work shall continue as normal unless there is a clear threat to any employee's health or safety

Direct Resolution

Staff members who wish to raise a grievance should, in the first instance (feels comfortable and safe to do so), attempt to resolve the issue directly with the person/s involved. The aggrieved person is encouraged to make the person or persons aware that their actions are unwelcome/offensive/intimidating.

Line Management (Nominated Supervisor/Director/Service Leader)

If matters are not resolved, or the staff member is unwilling to raise it with the person/s involved or with the line manager, the staff member should raise their grievance with the next level of management. Staff will move through each level only if they consider that their grievance has not been resolved.

People and Culture (if applicable)

The People and Culture team have the responsibility to:

- provide advice, assistance, and support to all parties to a grievance in line with this policy and procedure
- afford confidentiality for all parties involved in the grievance
- facilitate satisfactory resolution of the matter between parties
- manage the grievance investigation process and ensure it is conducted in a procedurally fair and transparent manner and without undue delay
- appoint an external and/or independent investigator to conduct the investigation as required
- engage mediators as required
- review the findings and resolutions for compliance with this policy and/or any actions that relate to the Disciplinary Policy
- maintain a dialogue with all parties to the grievance to ensure constructive, respectful, and proactive resolution of any grievances that arise

Approved Provider (e.g the Committee of Management, if applicable)

The Approved Provider has responsibility to:

- be aware of their obligations and responsibilities in relation to handling grievances.
 - appoint a grievance sub-committee (if applicable) to manage the grievance investigation process and ensure it is conducted in a fair and transparent manner and without undue delay
 - appoint an external and/or independent investigator to conduct the investigation as required
 - ensure independence between the investigator (such as a grievance sub-committee) and the decision maker (such as a Service Leader/Director/Centre Manager or President) should be maintained at all times
 - facilitate satisfactory resolution of the matter between parties and/or engage mediators as required
 - review the findings and resolutions for compliance with this policy and/or any actions that relate to the Disciplinary Policy
- maintain a dialogue with all parties to the grievance to ensure constructive, respectful, and proactive resolution of any grievances that arise.

Investigating a Grievance

If it is not possible to resolve the grievance through discussions with relevant parties expeditiously, conduct a formal investigation into the grievance.

Procedural fairness and transparency are critical in a workplace investigation (refer to Definitions).

Maintaining procedural fairness means that you can:

- protect the interests of the participants in the investigation
- enhance the credibility of the investigation process
- rely on the investigation (and your findings) when making employment decisions
- defend your employment decisions in a court or tribunal.

The following list includes recommendations to ensure that a workplace investigation is procedurally fair.

The investigator should ensure that:

- the respondent is aware of all the allegations made against them in sufficient detail
- the respondent is allowed a reasonable opportunity, including adequate time, to respond to each of the allegations
- the investigation is carried out in a reasonable time frame
- all participants are given the opportunity to have a support person in the interviews pertaining to the investigation
- all participants are required to maintain confidentiality and sign a confidentiality agreement
- the investigator has no personal interest or bias in the matter being investigated
- all participants are given the opportunity to respond to any contradictory evidence
- the investigator makes reasonable and diligent enquiries to ensure that there is sufficient evidence before making findings on the balance of probabilities.

The Importance of Impartiality

It is critical to ensure that the person responsible for carrying out an investigation is impartial. The investigator must not have a vested interest in the outcome of the matter.

It's important to consider:

- whether the use of an external investigator is necessary to ensure impartiality
- whether any conflicts of interest need to be disclosed (e.g. if any individuals are friends outside the workplace);
- whether the investigator has handled any previous disciplinary matters.

If there is the possibility that a person's employment will be terminated if the allegations are proven as part of an investigation, then you should seriously consider the use of an external investigator to ensure that your investigation and the process followed will stand up in any potential court proceeding.

Dispute Resolution

Should a grievance not be resolved in a manner which is satisfactory to the Complainant or Respondent, then either party may enact the dispute resolution provisions of their relevant award or industrial agreement. An employee who is a party to the dispute may appoint a representative for these purposes.

Refer to Clause 13 (Dispute Resolution) in the Victorian Early Childhood Teachers and Educators Agreement 2020 (VECTEA).

Resolution and Documentation

When a grievance is resolved, the relevant parties will be notified accordingly. Where it is considered appropriate to document outcomes of a grievance procedure, it will be placed on the employee's personnel file and a copy given to the employee

DEFINITIONS

Complainant: Person who brings the grievance to the attention of Lucas Primary School Outside of School Hours Care.

Staff grievance: A formal complaint raised by an employee due to their terms and conditions of employment. Employees usually file grievances for workplace harassment, workplace bullying, discrimination, nepotism, concerns regarding team management or regarding terms of the employment (i.e., workplace entitlements).

Workplace bullying (bullying): As defined under the Fair Work Act 2009, workplace bullying is repeated, unreasonable behaviour directed towards a worker, or group of workers, that creates a risk to health or safety. Reasonable management action conducted in a reasonable manner does not constitute workplace bullying. Workplace bullying can be carried out in various ways, including through email, text, or social media channels. Workplace bullying can occur between employees (sideways), from managers to employees (downwards), or from employees to supervisors/managers (upwards)

Reasonable management action (workplace bullying): The Fair Work Act 2009 provides that an employee is not considered to be bullied by their employer (or management) when reasonable management action is or will be taken. Management actions must be conducted appropriately and reasonably and include, and are not limited to:

- providing fair and constructive feedback on performance or conduct
- responding to poor performance, including performance management processes
- conducting necessary disciplinary meetings or disciplinary action
- directing and controlling how work is carried out.

Discrimination: Refers to the unjust or prejudicial treatment of individuals or groups based on certain characteristics referred to as protected attributes. Unlawful discrimination can manifest in various forms, including but not limited to direct actions, policies, practices, or systemic biases that result in unequal treatment or disadvantage for certain individuals or groups. Discrimination is unlawful under various state and federal anti-discrimination legislation, as listed above, including protections against discrimination in the workplace.

Harassment: Includes, but is not limited to, unwanted, unsolicited, unwelcome behaviour that is offensive, embarrassing, intimidating, or humiliating. For the purpose of this policy, harassment will include sexual and other forms of harassment (including workplace sexual harassment).

Workplace investigator: An external individual who is responsible for conducting impartial and objective investigations into workplace incidents, complaints, or alleged misconduct. They are typically appointed by an employer/approved provider or assigned by a designated authority within the organisation to gather relevant information, interview witnesses, review evidence, and make findings and recommendations based on their investigation.

Respondent: Person or entity whose behaviours, actions or decisions are the subject of the grievance.
